

I agree with Petition RM-10811 as written. The CW mode is still the most efficient mode for amateur communications. Proficiency in sending and receiving morse code should continue as a requirement to hold the General and Extra Class amateur licenses. I am active as a volunteer examiner. Administering a code test is no more difficult than the written examinations. Nor is learning and passing the morse code element so difficult that the average individual cannot master it.